To the Farmer:

In preparing and presenting this directory to the farmers and breeders of Preble County, The Clevenger Directory Co. is paying a tribute to the increased importance which the business of farming has taken in this community in very recent years.

With better roads, automobiles, interurban lines and telephones, farming no longer means an isolated life such as it implied when it required the best part of a day to go to town and get back home. After feeding stock and eating their evening meal, the farm family living in one part of the county can now get into their automobile and spend a social evening with friends in a distant part of the county and return home in time to be early to bed. In a business way as well as in a social way, life on the farm is today little different from life in town, except that the farmer surely gets better air and fresher food than his brother in town.

The ease of communication with other farmers has made it a necessity that the farmer should have information regarding others in the same business as himself throughout the county. The Farmers and Breeders' Directory supplies this need. There are scores of ways in which this directory can be put to daily use by the progressive farmer.

It is only through the co-operation of the stockmen, merchants, manufacturers and others advertising in this directory that the publishing of such a book at a price within the reach of the average home is made possible. The Clevenger Directory Co. recommends these advertisers for your patronage.

The Clevenger Directory Co. believes that this directory will be of service to the farmers of Preble County and that it will contribute no small part toward making the farmers of the county better acquainted with each other and that through this book, farm life will be made not only more profitable but more enjoyable.

History of Preble County

On March 1, 1808, Preble County was formed by an Act of the Legislature. The county was named after Commodore Preble and the county seat was named after General William Eaton, the two great naval and land heroes of the United States war and the pirates of Algiers and Tripoli. William Bruce was the man who proposed naming the county, Preble and the county seat, Eaton. He also named the principal streets Barron, Somers, Wadsworth and Decatur after other heroes of that war.

The first election for county officers was held on the first Monday of April, 1808. George Shideler, Wm. Irvin and Samuel Hawkins presented their certificates of election as county commissioners to William Brown, who was then Court Clerk pro tempore and they were sworn into office. Their first acts were to appoint Alexandria Lanier, Clerk, and to appoint Wm. Bruce, Treasurer. The commissioners ordered a bounty of $1.00 paid for the scalp of every panther or "wild wolf" killed in the county and quite a number were killed and the bounty paid.

Then in 1812 the question of building a Court House came up which was a more serious affair. The building was to be of brick, two stories high and forty feet square, located 25 feet East of Barron street and 20 feet South of Main street, and to be parallel to said streets. An agreement was made with Andrew House to build the Court House in accordance with the plans as finally adopted for the sum of $1,000, to be completed on or before December 1, 1816, but was not completed until three or four years later. John Spacht, Andrew McQuiston and James Crawford were the commissioners who built the first Court House.

The next important thing was to divide Preble county into four townships. First they ordered that the South ten mile of the third range of townships should be named Hardin township and the election to be held at the house of William Swisher; second that the North fourteen miles of the third range should be named Twin township and the election held at the house of William Nisbet; third that all of the second range of townships should be named Somers township and the election held at the house of Samuel Hawkins; fourth that the first range of townships should be named Israel township and the election held at the house of Benjamin Kercheval. On March 7, 1809, they decreed that the North sixteen miles of the second range of townships should be called Washington township and that the election should be held at the house of Samuel Hawkins. This left Somers township ten miles long. On the same day they decreed that Jefferson township should be the North sixteen miles of the first range, leaving Israel township ten miles long. Then came a little dispute and a contest that caused some bitterness for a time. Hardin township was the South ten miles of the third range. It had incurred a debt of $250 for some road work. The people of what is now Lanier township desired to have it created as a separate township, and to pay only its proportionate share of the debt, as it was a township debt, and the people of what is now Gratis township desired to have it erected into a separate township, and free of any part of the debt, because they argued that the north part, having received all the benefit of the money spent, ought to pay the debt. For over a year the question was bandied about, neither party succeeding, but finally, on March 4, 1811, the county commissioners decreed that the fifth congressional township of the third range should be a separate township, to be called Lanier, (after the clerk of the board), and that it should pay its proper pro rata share of the debt.

This aroused the Quakers, and a body of them, headed by Samuel Stubbs, came to Eaton on March 7, 1811, to argue their cause. They were turned down by the commissioners, but, after awhile, Mr. Stubbs insisted on making another try. At last they consented and Mr. Stubbs made an argument for their side, pointing out very strongly that it worked no injustice if the people who received all the benefits were required to pay the debt, and that they had a strong and growing community of respectable people, who never shunned their duty. He was so earnest about it that he got a respectful hearing, finally winding up with the words, "Now, friends, we think thee ought to give us a township free gratis." When he closed Alex Lanier, the clerk of the board, exclaimed, "O, let him have his township and call it Gratis", and the commissioners then made the order "that all that part of the third range being within the bounds of the fourth original township be declared a new township by the name of Gratis".

This left Twin township twelve miles long, and entirely wiped out Hardin as a township.

On March 4, 1812, it was ordered that Dixon township, originally Dixon, should be the South half of Jefferson and that the election should be held at the house of Benjamin Kerchevel. It was named after Eli Dixson, President of the Board, and who lived in that township. On June 1, 1812, all that part of Israel township in township 7, range 1 East, was added to Dixon township, thus making Dixon ten miles long, Jefferson eight miles long, and leaving Israel township as now formed. Dixon township is township 7 of range 1 east. The western half and southern third of the township is very flat and level and was originally swamp and wet. The first settler was Eli Dixson as was stated above. Then in 1804-1808 came the Kerchevels, Harrises, Larshes and Truazes. Kerchevel erected the first mill ever built in the township and it existed as a mill longer than any other here, being later known and now remembered as the Niccum mill or Stony Point, on Four Mile. The township settled up after 1810 very rapidly for the census report of 1830 gave the township one thousand three hundred and sixty-six inhabitants.

On June 5, 1815, it was ordered that Somers township be township 6, range 2, of the original survey and that all north thereof be added to and become part of Washington township, making it eighteen miles long. One of the first settlers was David Hendriz, who, in 1803, settled on the land where Camden is now located. Thomas Newton, William Irwin and Abram Irwin, Matthew McClung and Elisha Carter all came in 1803. The Christian church organized a society in the settlement of Somers township and about 1840 the organization was weakened and it passed into the hands of the Universalists. In 1816 a grist-mill was built by Major Robinson. In 1831 this mill passed into the hands of James Barnett and sons, who rebuilt it and put in three sets of burr-stones. In 1816 John Stubbs also rebuilt a mill about a half mile South of Camden on the East side of Seven-Mile creek.

Twin township was first organized by the decree of the three associate judges, on the 15th of March, 1808, out of the original township of Hardin, comprising all of the third range of townships. They decreed that Twin should be the North fourteen miles of the third range, which extended from the Darke county line to the confluence of Banta's fork and Twin creek, and it remained thus until the commissioners in 1815, changed it by their order that Twin township should be the sixth original surveyed township of the third range. It takes its name from the principal stream (named by the Indians long before the coming of the white man) which flows through this township from north to south, the Indian's Nile. Among the earliest settlers were some of the most prominent farmers of that day, the Van Winkel, Keislings, Millers, Robbertsons, Dickeys, Nisbets, Ozias, Bantas, Rapes, Whitesells and others, and it has maintained its position as an agricultural township from that day to the present. The mill so long and favorably known as the Stotler mill, is about the only one of its kind that is in operation today in this township. The government owned the land in the early days of its settlement and sold it at two dollars per acre, in parcels of not less than a section. This necessitated the clubbing together of those prospective settlers who were unable to purchase so much land, and the subsequent division of it amongst themselves, by lot or otherwise, to suit its members.

On June 5, 1815, an order was made that Twin township be divided and that the North part, or the seventh-surveyed township be called Harrison. The first settler in the township was George Leas, who arrived about 1815 and settled near Twin creek in section 21. In 1816 the Tillmans located on Swamp creek. In 1804 John Singer, John Locke, John Aikman, and Patrick McGriff came. In 1812 the Indians began being troublesome and a block house was built on the northwest quarter of section 11, and a greater or less force was stationed there for about two years, among which were companies from the central and southern parts of the county, as well as nearly every able-bodied man in the township. At different times an Indian sneaking through the woods, tried to shoot William Myers, and John Aikman, but in each instance the flint failed to ignite the powder and the snap caused the white man to seek cover before a second effort could be made. In 1812 Rebecca Shart, a girl, was captured by the Indians and taken into Darke county where she was kept about a year and then brought back and released.

On June, 1815 it was ordered that Somers township be township 6, range 2, of the original survey, and that all north thereof be added to and become part of Washington township, making it eighteen miles long. In 1817 it was ordered that township 9, range 2 east be a new township and called Monroe. This left Washington twelve miles long. A few years later the people of the south part of Washington township started an agitation for the creation of a new township out of the south half. They met with much opposition, because it would place Eaton into two townships, but finally on December 7, 1824 a delegation came to the county seat to argue for a township. It was headed by Gasper Potterf, a German, who had been a soldier in the Revolution, and lived on the banks of Seven-Mile creek of this township. He got a hearing and he argued that Eaton was likely to grow to be a big city and that it would contain many people who would be great sinners and law breakers. The plea caught the fancy of the county commissioners and they ordered that the south four miles of Washington township should be a new township, named Gasper, after the old German. He now lies in Mound Hill cemetery. This left Washington township eight miles long. William Bruce is believed to have been the first settler to build a house in Washington township, 1805. In the same year John Goldsmith came to the northwest quarter. In 1806 there seems to have been a number of settlers crowding into the township, among them John Merony, George Dooley, Andrew Dooley, Joseph and Nathan Sellers, John Ward and Samuel Ward, John Aukerman, John Sherer, David Bloomfield and others. The first manufacturing establishment was the mill of William Bruce built in 1806 and rebuilt in 1810. Bruce later added a woolen-mill for carding wool, which the women of the county spun into yarn and then wove it into cloth for family use. The next was a wagon-maker's shop, built by John Harbison in 1811, at the northwest corner of Main and Maple streets of the county seat, Eaton. Richard Leeson started a tannery soon after the War of 1812 which continued in operation until a few years ago. A plow factory was started during the Civil War and carriage making was carried on by two or three firms until about thirty years ago. A flax-mill was started in 1856 and continued for some years. The bedstead factory for the manufacture of brass and iron bedsteads was started by D. J. Miller.

Gasper township received its name from an old German, Gasper Potterf as was stated above. The first settler of the township was Silas Dooley, and Moses Dooley. In 1818 Gasper Potterf built a mill on Seven-Mile creek, and for some years the bolting was done by hand. He soon erected a distillery in connection with the mill and the War of 1812 made the demand for both mill products and whisky very considerable.

On September 29, 1817, it was ordered that township 9, range 2 east, be a new township and be called Monroe. Charles Armantrout, near Hamburg; William Brown, in section 29; John Jellison, in section 23; Isaiah Adams, near Hamburg; Jacob Baker, in section 16, were the first settlers in this township. The first school house was built about 1825 with Jerry Pence as teacher. The first church was the United Brethren church.

In 1809 it was decreed that the north sixteen miles of the first range of townships should be called Jefferson township. The first settlers came from Kentucky. Most prominent among them were the Flemings, Irelands, Purviances, Morrisons, and Mitchells. Among the very earliest settlers of Jefferson township and one of the most prominent and influential in shaping the affairs of the new country, was David Purviance. In 1791 he was selected as a representative to the State Legislature. One of the best remembered of the early citizens of Jefferson township was Thomas Barber, who became a martyr to his anti-slavery principles in 1858. He emigrated to Kansas about the time, just at the breaking out of the "Kansas troubles" over the question of the extension of slavery. He remained true to his principles and soon became known as one of the hated "abolitionists". He was shot by an assassin. The first school house in Jefferson township was built on the McGrew farm, two miles north of New Paris. It was a log structure of the characteristic type of the rude architecture of that day. John Ireland was the first teacher. The water power afforded by Whitewater creek was liberally utilized at an early day. And in 1814 John Ireland erected the first grist-mill in the township on the creek below the town and near the State line. The remains of the foundation of this old mill are yet to be seen. In 1851 the Dayton & Western railroad was built and New Paris found itself on this new line of transportation. This was hailed with joy by the business men of the town at the time.

The history of Jackson township begins with the coming of the white man. The Indian occupied the land before the white man came. The first settlement in Jackson township was made in the year of 1805 by Ayres Taylor, near Four-Mile creek. In the same year John McCormick settled here. Jackson township became a separate township by act of the county commissioners on December 18, 1816, being formed out of portions of Jefferson and Dixon townships. The first election was held at the house of Adam Starr. In the first years of the settlement of Jackson township the population was too sparse and the families too far apart to make it possible to establish or keep up schools. There was little or nothing in the way of school system. The first school house in the township, was built on the present site of West Florence in the year of 1814 and the first teacher was John Taylor. But at present they have a wonderful school in a beautiful building.

At first Israel township included the four congressional townships in the west range of the county. But, one year later, in 1809 the county commissioners cut off the north sixteen miles and called it Jefferson, while still later the land was still reduced to its present proportions. In the early days of the villages of Israel township, merchants, weavers, saddlers, cabinet makers, tinners, blacksmiths, all plied their trades to supply the necessities of the citizens. Farm products were carried to the Cincinnati market in wagons, drawn by from four to ten horses, bearing their fur collars and arches of bells. Live stock was driven to market. The log tavern at Fair Haven furnished entertainment for the drivers. When the war between the North and South was declared Israel township gave quite a number of men for the cause. She also gave forty to the gospel ministry.

An Opportunity for Girls To Learn a Good Trade

At the "ATLAS" every girl has a chance to learn a trade that will insure her future independence.

The "ATLAS" is the finest and most sanitary knitting mill in the United States; every floor is airy and sunlit, spotlessly clean and kept clean.

Every precaution is taken to make the interior of the "Atlas" factory just as healthful and pleasant as out of doors. The trade you will learn here will be useful to you almost any place in the United States.

Good Pay--Promotion--Light Work

The work is light and chances for promotion to higher positions are excellent. Every Atlas employee must be of good character and an earnest conscientious worker—we want no other kind.

In return for loyalty and co-operation every employee draws good pay and enjoys the privilege of membership in the Atlas Christmas Club as well as the other social organizations of this company.

Investigate today. If you can't call, write for more particulars or phone 1845.

THE RICHMOND ITEM
ONLY MORNING PAPER IN RICHMOND

Brings to the Farmer
"Today's News Today"

How To Advertise Your PUBLIC SALE

The old way of advertising a Public Sale was by the posting of "Sale Bills." This method is no longer effective. The best way of notifying the farmer of your sale is to advertise in the newspaper he reads.

The paper of greatest farm circulation naturally will bring the largest crowd of buyers. If your sale is not advertised in The Item you are not reaching many farmers and cannot expect the buying crowd that others get who use this paper.

Reasons Why Most Farmers Read THE ITEM

First: Because The Item has full Associated Press leased wire Service and gives you all the news when it's news.

Second: Market Reports are received by telegraph, giving you the very latest and most comprehensive reports of any paper in this district.

Last but not least: The Item carries a Farm Page each Saturday which is of great interest to all farmers.

Let us help you write your Sale Bill. Write or Phone us.

WHY

Should Preble County Farmers be Content With Anything Less Than the Best?

Someone has said, "The proof of quality in any product is the continued and increasing patronage of intelligent buyers."

The continued and increasing patronage of Ohio Farmers and fertilizer dealers has made it necessary for us to build at Columbus, Ohio, the largest and best equipped fertilizer factory in the Middle-West with an annual capacity of 100,000 tons of the "World's Best Fertilizer."

During the war the demand increased faster than our ability to supply it and we have been able to bring the message of better fertilizer to only a few of Preble County Farmers.

Now that the war is over we are ready to supply the demand and there is no reason

Ten Reasons Why the Delight Surpasses All Self-Feeders

1. Because it is a Self-feeding Device that is mechanical, strong and durable in construction, comparatively light in weight, easily managed and controlled, efficient in practice, economical in use, manufactured from suitable material, reinforced with iron where necessary and creosoted throughout, after which the roof and end-walls are painted with the Big Four Yellow, and sold at a comparatively low price.

2. Because it is manufactured in various sizes to suit the size and number of animals to be fed as follows:

A-10 has 5 standard feed stalls on each side; accommodates 40 head of hogs or sheep of average size. Capacity 900 pounds.

B-8 has 4 large feed stalls on each side; accommodates 30 large hogs or sheep. Capacity 1000 pounds.

A-16 has 8 standard feed stalls on each side, accommodates 65 head of hogs or sheep of average size. Capacity 1500 pounds.

B-14 has 7 large feed stalls on each side; accommodates 55 large hogs or sheep. Capacity 2000 pounds.

3. Because it has two water-shedding floors on which the front feet of the animal may stand when feeding, and permits them to eat more deliberately even when the feeder is resting on soil that is soft.

4. Because it comprises two angle troughs, the inner sides being secured together at their upper edge, immediately under the throat of the receptacle, causing the feed to gravitate to the bottom of the troughs and in reach of animal when feeding.

5. Because it comprises a plurality of inner agitating doors, that are provided with spikes that comb the feed, in case the feed compacts in the receptacle, when the animal presses against the door in order that it may get to the feed; each animal agitating its own feed, and only the proper amount, when the feed shuts off automatically.

6. Because it comprises a plurality of spaced stall partitions, dividing the troughs into feed stalls, each successive to but one animal at a time, prevents crowding one another and positively prevents them from rooting out the feed and wasting it in any manner.

7. Because the partitions in the receptacle are removable and always placed in alignment with stall partitions, and various sized bins formed, without the feed mixing, as Nature intended. There being two partitions placed in the receptacle when manufactured.

8. Because the feed stalls are inclosed with swinging doors, a door for each stall. Easily and quickly operated by any small animal and prevents loss or damage of feed, by poultry, wind or rain. Easily and quickly removed, they being suspended to round rods running the entire length of feeding device, channeled at the lower ends and projects over an iron covered plate, which prevents water getting into feed stalls.

9. Because stock raising can be made a safe and profitable investment by installing the Delight Self-feeder on the farm. The one real feeding device that enables the farmer to feed the desired amount and kind of food, tonics, laxatives, vermicifuges, minerals, etc., each animal having its own selection as Nature intended and without a particle of waste or damage of feed.

10. Because it is sold entirely on its merits, every owner a booster and a satisfied customer, or money refunded.

We Have Sold ORION CHERRY KING XI
88661

For $25,000

In so doing, we have placed at the head of our herd his greatest son, Shultz's Orion King No. 135551, the cornering KING OF THE BREED and he will be assisted by a son of JACKSON ORION KING, that just recently sold for $32,000. Our herd is now headed with two of the most sensational Duroc Boars to be found in one herd in America. Remember our great bred sow sale is February 14, 1920, Aug. 3, 1920, when we sell as sensational lot of sows mated to these great boars as will sell in the coming year, sired by the best boars known to the breed. Also remember that we also have a choice collection of male pigs for sale at all times. We are the Fountain Head for the best in Durocs.

The International Harvester Creed

We appreciate every order a farmer gives for one of our machines because we see in that order an expression of his confidence in us, in our policies and in the quality of our product. The farmer who buys an International machine pays us a compliment. He says in effect "This is the best machine on the market for my purpose." His faith in us inspires us to keep faith with him.

A sale of one of our machines means something more to us than the delivery of a machine by the dealer. Every International machine is designed, built and sold to do certain work. It is as essential to us as to the farmer that its work be well done and that the machine prove satisfactory to the buyer, because it is only then that we retain his confidence and can hope for his future business. Our most valuable asset is the confidence of the thousands of farmers who buy our machines regularly.

The Relationship of Good Crops and Diamonds

A number of conservative farmers have purchased Diamonds and have told us that they had always wanted to own a good diamond, and while they are enjoying top prices for their crops and live stock they decided now was the time to buy.

And why not? They were perfectly right and you, too, can very wisely make your decision to buy now. Your crops are at high water marks and will likely stay high while diamonds are lower than they will ever be again. Diamonds are sure to advance from 25 to 75 per cent in the next few years. How can you possibly make a better and safer investment?

Jenkins & Co. are the leading Diamond Merchants in this section. We invite your inspection and will show you unequalled selection and superb values.
